

Basic Detail Report

Title Interview with Anthony B. Murtha

Date 2009 February 6

Primary Maker Anthony B. Murtha

Medium digitized audio cassette tape

Description Audio cassette tape of an interview with Anthony B. Murtha. He was interviewed on February 6, 2009 by Bruce M. Stave and Sondra Astor Stave. Tony was born in 1944 in Hartford, Connecticut. He attended Bugbee Elementary School and Kingswood School in West Hartford. He attended College of the Holy Cross for two years before dropping out. In 1965, Tony got a job at G. Fox & Co. He attended nursery and elementary school with George Koopman and they became friends. He worked at G. Fox during Christmas in 1963 and 1964. In 1965, he became a salesman in the Men's Sportswear Department. He then started training as a service manager, who ran the selling floor. He describes his memories of Beatrice Fox Auerbach. He describes how the store changed after the sale to the May Company. After the sale, Tony left the Service Division and moved to the Security and Loss Prevention Department. He was the security manager at the Meriden store, then the Waterbury store. He then became a shortage controller. He discusses the changes in the store leadership after the sale to the May Company. He left G. Fox in 1974. He describes how training employees worked at G. Fox before the sale. He never went back to G. Fox after he was let go.

Dimensions Duration: 58 Minutes, 29 Seconds