Title Hall in Philip Cheney's House After Renovation

Date 1930 - 1940

Medium Photography; black and white photograph on paper

Description View of the hall and staircase in Philip Cheney's home in South Manchester, Connecticut, after it was renovated in the 1920s. In the foreground there is a long table with a vase of lilies on it, next to a tall statue of a crane. Behind them is the staircase, which has a carpet runner and decorative banister. The bottom half of the wall, next to the staircase, is molded paneling. The upper half is covered in wallpaper that depicts an outdoor scene. A hexagonal lantern chandelier hangs down from the ceiling on the right.
