Description Audio file of interview with Beckett Hennessey. He was interviewed by Trisha Mohan on March 25, 2026 in Hartford, Connecticut. Beckett Hennessey was interviewed as part of the Connecticut Museum of Culture and History's Community History Project discussing moments of change in his life. This interview with Beckett Hennessy explores how studying abroad shaped his personal growth, worldview, and sense of identity. Through experiences in places like Rome, Barcelona, Morocco, Nepal, and Ecuador, he describes how constant exposure to new cultures, languages, and lifestyles pushed him out of his comfort zone and helped him become more adaptable and open-minded. He reflects on the excitement and challenges of navigating unfamiliar environments, forming new relationships, and adjusting to different social norms. The interview highlights how these experiences shifted his priorities, placing more value on meaningful experiences, relationships, and personal fulfillment rather than purely academic or material success. Overall, it shows how studying abroad can be a deeply transformative experience that expands one’ s perspective on both the world and oneself.
